

ALLEN carries on growing in Italy!

ALLEN strengthens its offer in the Engineering sector through a new strategic acquisition.

Since the early 2000s, the ALLEN group (European leader in Technology Consulting and Engineering) has kept investing on the Italian market through its eponymous subsidiary, ALLEN Italia and now through the acquisition of POSITECH.

POSITECH was founded in 2006 and is headquartered in Milan. The company is active in cross-market consultancy services in Italy with a turnover of 5 million € and 79 employees in 2013. POSITECH delivers engineering consulting services in the Automotive, Avionics, Aerospace, Defense, Energy, Biomedical and Industrial Automation sectors. For more details: <http://www.positech.it/>

Through this acquisition ALLEN in Italy will strengthen the offering of a large scale of integrated and highly specialized services in the Engineering domain, including:

- Requirements Engineering
- Model Based Design
- Simulation and Modelling
- HW Design
- Embedded Software Development
- Module, Integration and System Testing
- RAMS Analysis
- System Integration
- Automation and Control Engineering
- Project and System Management

About ALLEN:

ALLEN, the leading European player in Engineering, Consulting and Technologies (ICT), undertakes design and research projects for Technical and Information Systems departments of major industrial, telecom and service-providing companies. ALLEN Group, set up in 1988 and present in 16 countries had a turnover of 1.2 billion euros in 2013 and has 16,000 employees, of whom 88% are highly-qualified engineers.

For all information, see: www.alten.com

CONTACTS:

ALLEN: Anne Mailliet

Phone: 32 (0) 2 774 88 11 / amailliet@alten.be

ALLEN Italia e POSITECH: Marcello Barba

Phone: 39 (02) 36 57 10 00 / marcello.barba@alten.it